A small stack of books! From the library: Mrs. Smith! The library was well used by students as a place to sit and do their work.
The room was large and airy, with rows of tables and chairs. There was a large window at the front of the room, looking out onto the school grounds. The windows had white frames and were decorated with flowers. The walls were painted a light blue and there were bookshelves along the back wall. The floor was made of polished wood and there was a large rug in the center of the room. The room was very quiet and peaceful, with only the sound of the students reading and writing in the background.
